

Europeans may hesitate to accept Turkey as an EU member because:

- a. The Turks will convert to the Euro currency.
- b. Turks will be free to work in other EU countries.
- c. Turks will be free to practice their religion anywhere.
- d. Turkey's armed forces will amalgamate with other EU armies.

Turkey, Then and Now:

From clues in the cartoon, effects of Turkey becoming an EU member would be

- They will convert to the Euro currency.
- They will be free to work in other European Union countries.
- They will be free to practice their religion anywhere.
- Their armed forces will amalgamate with other EU members.

10-2

From clues in the cartoon, Europeans may hesitate to accept Turkey as an EU member because:

- Turks are converting to Euro currency.
- Turks will practice their own religion.
- Turks will be able to take jobs in any EU country.
- Turks will amalgamate their army with other EU armies.